

School of Psychology

Ranked first in UK for research impact

(REF Impact 2014)

14 permanent posts

In REF 2014 the School of Psychology was one of only four submissions to secure 100% 4* rating for research impact. We are a School that drives innovation and excellence in research, programme development and the student experience. The School offers BPS accredited undergraduate degrees, a very successful suite of Masters programmes and supports a large doctoral student community of around 250 students.

We are investing in our future and a number of opportunities at different levels have been made available within the School: A Chair in Psychology, two Readerships, a Senior Lectureship and 10 lectureships.

Applicants should have a significant track-record of research and be on an upward trajectory. For the post of Professor of Psychology and the lectureships we welcome applicants from all areas of psychology or a closely allied cognate discipline that complement or extend the reach of the School (www.uel.ac.uk/psychology/research/researchclusters/).

The School has excellent research laboratory facilities including neuroimaging and eye-tracking laboratories.

Successful candidates will be invited to help shape the future of the School. A willingness to be involved in developing the postgraduate portfolio, including doctoral supervision is essential. Experience of using e-learning technology is highly desirable.

1.0 FTE Professor of Psychology

1.0 FTE Reader in Lifespan Psychology

Applicants with a profile in the positive aspects of the psychology of ageing would be particularly welcome

1.0 FTE Reader in Occupational/Organisational/Business Psychology

0.8 FTE Senior Lecturer in Advanced Qualitative Methods

1.0 FTE Lectureships in Psychology x 10 posts

To obtain further details about these vacancies please visit our website at jobs.uel.ac.uk. If you wish to have an informal conversation about the posts you are welcome to contact the Dean, Professor Mark N. O. Davies on 02082234502. The closing date for applications is July 19th.

University of East London
London's leading university for civic engagement

UEL
University of East London